ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For State Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce H. H. HENNING, Wayne County, a candidate for the office of State Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

EDITORIALS.

The death of Admiral Sampson removes one of the chief figures from the stage of action.

Judge Thomas H. Paynter has been re-nominated by the Democrats for Judge of the Court of Appeals in the Sixth district.

Ex-Gov. W. O. Bradley and Mr. H. W. Batson have formed a partnership in the practice of law. The firm is located in Louisville.

Hon. W. P. Thorne, in a speech at New Castle, formerly announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

But one formal announcement has been made for Governor, but it is understood that Beckham, Black, Hendricks and Breckenridge will enter the contest.

Gen. Miles refused to be a pall bearer at Admiral Sampson's funeral. He offered no explanation. Miles claims that he was mistaken for Sampson at Santiago.

The House last Friday passed the bill providing for enabling acts whereby the Territories of Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico may enter the Union as States.

Alan-a-Dale, the colt that won the Kentucky Derby, pulled up lame after the race, and it is feared he has broken down completely. His owner valued him at $50,000.

Leo Turner of "Quarter Horse" fame, shot and killed his cousin, John Turner, near Middleboro last Saturday. They had been enemies for years, and meeting in a country road, John Turner opened fire with result as above stated. Leo Turner was immediately tried and acquitted.

Paul Leicester Ford, the novelist, and author of "Janice Meredith," was shot and killed by his insane brother, Malcolm, in New York last Wednesday. After firing the fatal shot Malcolm put a bullet through his own head. Both brothers were buried together. Malcolm became unbalanced on account of financial difficulties.

Ten thousand cattle were left on the Chicago markets because the packing houses refused to buy them unless sold at less than current prices. The stockmen claim that the action was a direct result of the combination among the packers. If the Beef Trust intends to treat cattle-raisers in this manner there will be a reckoning which will make every one responsible for such a condition suffer.

Admiral Schley when told of the death of Admiral Sampson expressed regret and sympathy for his family. He said, "No one has ever heard me utter one unkind word about him." Under the provocation such self-control is remarkable but this is an additional evidence of his greatness. The real hero of Santiago—the Master Spirit of American Naval Warfare has suffered more indignities from the powers of his own country than any other great American. Calm and deliberate in the greatest modern naval battle, true and courageous when being deprived of the honors and compliments of his victory. He is a great old man and shows that magnanimous spirit under any and all circumstances.

A volcanic eruption of Mt. Pelee, in the Island of Martinique, Thursday of last week, destroyed the city of St. Pierre, and the loss of life is placed at 40,000. A French cruiser, which was off the city at the time of the fearful catastrophe, managed to save about thirty lives. The downpour of lava reached the harbor, and every vessel save one was destroyed with all their crews. Eye-witnesses state that the volcano, which had been active for several days, seemed to burst its cap and a flood of steam, sand and molten rocks followed. Ashes fell on the Island of Barbadoes, one hundred miles from St. Pierre, and on ships at sea. Incoming vessels report that the ocean was visibly affected and contrary currents ensued. No one up to last Saturday had been able to land at St. Pierre.

Thompson, sister of the bride, Corvelli, Texas, only relatives and a few friends from Dallas and Quanah being present.

The attendants were Dr. H. Clark and Miss Anna Thompson, the whole wedding party presenting a beautiful picture. The wedding gown was a Parisian white with pink point lace trimmings.

For the present the young couple will remain upon their ranch and later will build a residence in Corvelli.

Mrs. Witherspoon's many friends in Columbia know that she will be a blessing to her husband, and having reasons that the groom will be a devoted companion, continued prosperity is in sight.

THE BRIDGE CONTRACT LET.

County Judge T. A. Murrell and the Magistrates making up the Fiscal Court of Adair county, and Jas. Garrett, Jr., County Attorney were in session last Friday. Several bridge companies had their representatives before the court, and propositions were submitted to build an iron bridge across Russell's creek at Wilson's Mill. The Court decided it was to the interest of the tax-payers of Adair county to accept the proposition submitted by The Champion Bridge Company, of Wilmington, Ohio, and it so acted.

The company agrees to furnish all the material save the lumber that will be employed for flooring, etc., and complete the contract by the first of November, 1902, for $1,350. Bids were drawn and the agent left with the order.

DEATH AT GREENSBURG.

The intelligence of the demise of Mr. Amos K. Workman, residing in Columbia last Friday about the noon hour. The end came at the deceased late residence about the hour of 3 a. m. same day at Greensburg.

Mr. Workman was about fifty-two years old and was born and reared in Adair county and had been a successful planter and stock raiser for a number of years. It is said that he had accumulated a considerable estate.

The deceased had long been a feeble man and his death was a surprise to his family and friends.

Master Ralph Hart will please accept our thanks for a cluster of beautiful Marabell roses and a large Belgium rabbit foot. Ralph is interested in our property and is a profound believer in the rabbit-foot adage. While en route for Dallas, Texas, Dr. J. H. Grady lost his railroad ticket. Dr. C. D. Moore informs us that the wind blew it from his pocket. The officials of the road took immediately a duplicate, and it is our understanding that the doctor was not put to any extra expense.

A GOOD DETECTIVE.

Last week a colored boy and two girls of his complexion called at the store of Mr. Scott Montgomery and the article wanted necessitated him to go to the rear room, the boy and one girl with him. About the time he thought the other was into mischief he stepped to the door. He observed that the colored boy had been going up to be asked her what she had, her reply being nothing, nothing, but her soft answer did not allay his suspicion. He gave her a bunch and demanded that she give up his goods and in an instant of time she ran her hand under her wearing apparel and pulled out two packages of clothing. Returning to the others he caught the boy putting coin into his pocket which he was allowed to keep as he said he wanted to plant it. It was well enough for merchants to watch. One thing certain it takes a sick one to get in the work of Mr. Montgomery. In this case he breeds the real being the first merchant in Columbia to extract Mammoth Six Blueting from a dusky maiden.

Mr. C. G. Jeffries has accepted a position as salesman for the Knoxville Nursery Company. Mr. Jeffries is a man of experience in this line having spent three or four years in the business and any person who may need to plant a new orchard or repair an old one will not make a mistake by giving him an order. He is an upright, honest and well posted gentleman. The firm which he represents is too well established to need any commendation from us. It has had representation in this county for fifteen years and some of the best fruit grown in this section were received from The Knoxville Nursery Company.

The match game of baseball between Greensburg and Columbia drew a large crowd at Page's Park last Saturday forenoon. It was a very exciting game and the season and both little practicing had been done by either side. The game was called at 2 o'clock, the Columbia boys at the bat. They led off nicely and kept largely in advance from start to finish, the game closing 31 to 10. The department of the young men competing in the Greensburg was excellent, and they made a very favorable impression upon all who witnessed the game. The Columbia club will play the return game next Saturday week.

One of the places in Texas visited by Dr. C. D. Moore was Lampasas where his son, W. R. Moore, resides. When the hour of separation arrived the doctor addressed his son and said, "Bill, when shall I expect you in Kentucky?" "Not until I get money enough for traveling expenses," "Parson, that I will not expect of you," "and son and father parted. Seriously speaking, the doctor informed us that "Will," as he was familiarly called here, was doing very well. He has an elegant lady for a wife, two children, a grocery store and a fruit farm of ten acres.

Mr. R. H. Christie, of Camp Knox, Greensburg, and Miss Pinkie Murrell, daughter of Dr. C. D. Moore, were married at Lebanon last Wednesday.

Rev. Jesse L. Murrell was the officiating clergyman. It is said that he had been a feeble man and his death was a surprise to his family and friends.

The dwelling-house of Mr. Sam Pierce, Clark Spring neighborhood, was consumed by fire last Sunday night about 10 o'clock. The family was awakened but in time to save but little. Two feather beds were about all that was gotten out of the house. The price is estimated at $30; no insurance.

Mr. R. H. Christie, of Camp Knox, Greensburg, and Miss Pinkie Murrell, daughter of Dr. C. D. Moore, were married at Lebanon last Wednesday.

Rev. Jesse L. Murrell was the officiating clergyman. It is said that he had been a feeble man and his death was a surprise to his family and friends.

Master Ralph Hart will please accept our thanks for a cluster of beautiful Marabell roses and a large Belgium rabbit foot. Ralph is interested in our property and is a profound believer in the rabbit-foot adage. The Marabell is the most fragrant rose that grows, almost white, an emblem of innocence and purity, and in returning thanks to our little friend we trust that he may grow to manhood, lead a spotless life and become prominent in the affairs of men.

While en route for Dallas, Texas, Dr. J. H. Grady lost his railroad ticket. Dr. C. D. Moore informs us that the wind blew it from his pocket. The officials of the road took immediately a duplicate, and it is our understanding that the doctor was not put to any extra expense.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lucien, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rose, was born on April 13th 1901, died very suddenly of congestion of the brain on February 27th, 1902.

His mother was on a visit to her parents—Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Clark, and only a few short moments before his death she sat him on his pallet to play, seemingly in the very best of health, but alas, in a moment he was no more.

He was a beautiful and bright child, and a favorite with all who knew him. He was laid to rest in the family burying ground to await the resurrection of the "pure in heart."

To the grief stricken parents we would say, mourn not as those who have no hope, for little Lucien is in the land of pure delight where Jesus reigns. Strive to live such lives that you will meet your own sweet babe where parting is no more and sorrow is unknown.

The estate community extends its heart felt sympathy to the bereaved parents. Written by a true friend, ERNEST W. THOMPSON.

The teachers of the College gave their pupils an outing last Friday, the day being delightfully spent at Todd's Cave. Before the noon hour many explored the caverns and were amazed at the numerous curiosities to be seen. An elegant dinner was spread near the entrance and late in the afternoon the party returned, delighted with the day's enjoyment. Besides the teachers, the pupils were accompanied by Mrs. W. W. Jones and Mrs. R. L. Hatcher.

Quite a number of Adair county people have spoken to us since our last issue in regard to the re-union—the hundredth anniversary of the formation of the county—all being in favor of the move. Definite steps will have to be taken in order to get the matter in tangible shape. We suggest that a meeting be called and a committee appointed to see what can be done.

The slimmest prospects for fruit exist in this section for a number of years. Peaches off. No apples of any consequence on. The people in the main must hunt berries.

A district educational contest would be a drawing card for the people. It could be easily gotten up if the young people would take hold of it. Charge an admission fee and offer prizes as being successfully held over the state.

We hear some complaint from some of our farmers that there is a shortage in tobacco plants; also that the recent cold days have started the cut worms on our young corn. Taking everything into consideration it seems to us that we are certainly a favored people in this community.

Our Republican friends are going to have some fun in the near future over their primary between the Preacher and the Colonel. We find them very well divided. SHORT STORIES.

Pilots on the lakes complain that rivals use the searchlight to blind them.

New York has subscribed nearly $50,000 for the McKinley monument at Canton, most of it being given in New York City.

The electric light towers of Aurora, Ill., constructed in 1880, and the pioneer installation of that type, have been taken down.

The Chicago Coliseum, which can seat 15,000 people and is located in the center of the city, is to be utilized as an indoor summer garden.

The Salvation Army is floating an issue of $150,000 of bonds to provide homes for the poor. On file are applications from more than 1,000 families anxious to leave New York city and settle on farming land.

One of the last wishes expressed by a lady who died recently near San Francisco was that her favorite motor car should be taken out to sea and sunk in deep water. The deathbed order has been duly obeyed.

Union Pacific railroad officials have created consternation in the Boulder oilfields by announcing that nearly all the deeds for property sold during the past six years contain a clause expressly reserving the mineral on the land.

According to a rough estimate prepared by the war department, 7,000 medals will be required for the officers and men of the navy and marine corps who participated in the engagements in and adjacent to the West Indies during the war with Spain.

An applicant for naturalization at Newport, R. I., the other day was asked the usual question, "Do you belong to any societies to overthrow the United States government?" "Yes," replied the would be citizen promptly; "I belong to the carpenters' union."

A. L. Schaeffer of Edgar county, Ill., last year harvested the largest crop of popcorn ever gathered in the world. From his 102 acres he had 1,800 bushels, a yield of a little over seventeen bushels to the acre. It cost him $17 an acre to raise, sort, shell and pay ground rent.

FROM THE COMMONER.

The way to defeat the ship subsidy is to defeat the party that stands for subsidy.

People are beginning to understand more thoroughly what is meant by "extract of beef."

The Sioux City Journal is thirty two years old—old enough to know better and seemingly too old to learn.

There will be no difficulty about achieving harmony if the harmonizing is based on Democratic principles.

The beef trust is not worrying the Ohio Republican politicians half so much as the Iowa Republican office trust.

English military officers are trying to locate the blame for the Spion Kop disaster. Did they ever think of attributing it to the Boers?

Even Fustian regards the "water cure" as cruel and yet it was employed by American soldiers under the order of American officers.

Consistent Democrats will continue to refuse to follow the lead of men who call themselves democrats but advocate Republican principles.

The reorganizers say we must do something to fill the offices with Democrats, but the last time the reorganizers were in office they left the Democratic party and carried their offices with them.

Everything that could be done to aid the empire in its fight against the republicans has been done under the Republican administration. American traditions have been ruthlessly violated; indignity has been shown to the natural sympathies of the American people; and it need not be expected that there will be any change in this policy unless there is a protest so clear and plain that it can not be misunderstood.

Gov. Tilden's testimony before the committee was as unfriendly to the Philippines that his usefulness as a governor would be largely impaired. The Philippines would have to be very charitable to overlook his misdeeds.

The Johnston Democrat, noting the President has a post for secretary of state and a post for commissioner of pensions, remarks that "if he would straighten out the affairs of his administration he has need of a yes." Well, why does he not call in one of the gentlemen who figure it out that the protective tariff is a good thing for all.

The Republican remedy for the execution of beef trusts is reminiscent of the Chinese way of treating a snake as a neighbor. When a Chinaman wants to show his enmity he commits suicide on his enemy's doorstep. The Republican remedy is advising the people to abstain from the use of meat in order to show their enmity to wards the beef trust.

It is said that our fair will be held in July.

Mr. Tom Taylor is in very bad health.

AFRAID OF THE ISSUE.

The republican journals are already shying at the Philippine question. They know that they cannot defend the principles which underlie colonialism, and therefore, instead of boldly outlining a policy and defending it, they resort to subterfuge and misrepresentation.

The Kansas City Journal, one of the most unscrupulous of the republican papers, says its fright by crying out that the democratic substitute "is, in effect, an outright repudiation of the fundamental doctrine on which Mr. Bryan and his party made the campaign of 1900." It alleges that the democrats wanted immediate independence and that "his [Mr. Bryan's] plan and the plan of the party was to scuttle and run." If the editor of the Journal will read the Democratic platform of 1900 he will find that the platform and the party's candidates favored an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose. First, to establish a stable government; second, to give independence to the Philippines; and third, to protect them from outside interference. The party has always insisted that the establishment of a stable government in the place of the one overthrow comes before independence, but when it is understood that the government is to belong to the Filipinos and not to us, it will not take long to establish it. This is the point upon which the administration's policy differs from the democratic policy. Whose government is it to be? That is the all important question. The Filipinos do not want to be subjects; they want a government of their own. All they require is a promise of independence and then the formation of a government will be an easy matter.

The Journal says: "As a matter of fact, the kind of self-government proposed for the Filipinos by the republican bill contains about as much independence as the democratic measure." The editor of the Journal knows better, if he has read both plans. The republican plan is drawn upon the plan proposed for the American colonies by King George III., while the democratic substitute is drawn upon the plan proposed by the colonists. No amount of humbug or hypocrisy about our "duty" or our "destiny" can cloud the issue. The republican leaders deny the right of the Filipinos to self government, and the republican plan contemplates perpetual dependence and vassalage for the Filipinos. The democratic leaders assert the right of the Filipinos to self-government and their capacity for it, and the democratic plan contemplates the immediate promise and speedy grant of independence.

It is a contest between self government and arbitrary power—between a republican and an empire. The mere question is discussed the clearer this issue will become, and it is not surprising that the republicans, already conscious of their position, are beginning to dodge the principles involved and run from the question—The Commoner.

VICTIM OF BUNCON.

This story of a meeting between two Owen county men in Louisville is from the Owen News-Herald: Jim Todd met one of his old Eagle Creek friends in Louisville last week. As he was going down Main street he noticed a block ahead of him a familiar figure, Sam—. He had been down to the tobacco warehouse, had dallied with Jack Barleymore and was fixed right for the road. As he came toward Todd he was cutting curves like a kildie on a creek.

"Hello, Sam!" says Jim.

Sam stiffened up and began to back away. After he had backed half way across Main street Jim hailed him again.

"Why, Sam, don't you know me?"

"Jim, is it you?"

"Why, of course it's me, who else could it be?"

"I thought you was one of these bunkers; you look kinder like a bunker man. They've robbed me two or three times, but say, Jim, and he drew his eyebrows down knowingly, "I'm gittin' up to snuff, though some people never git smart enough to live till they are old enough to die. I'm full of free lunch and five-cent whisky, but I'm fixed for a home run. I've got my ticket sewed up in the seat of my pants, and if they rob me this round they'll have to run in on me with a reap hook."

JUST A HINT.

Daughter, don't let mother do it; Do not let her slave and toil; While you sit a useless idler, Feasting your soft hands to fill, Don't you see the heavy burden Daily she is wont to bear Bring the lines upon her forehead, Sprinkle silver in her hair? Daughter, don't let mother do it, Do not let her take and broil; Through long bright summer hours, Share with her the heavy toil; See, her eyes have lost its brightness, From her cheek the ruby glow, And the day that once was bright Now is feeble, weak and slow. Daughter, don't let mother do it; She has cared for you so long; Is it right the weak and feeble Should be toiling for the strong? Waken from your listless languor, Seek her side to cheer and bless, And your grief will be less bitter When the gods above her press.

Daughter, don't let mother do it, You will never, never know What was home without a mother 'Till that mother lieth low; Low beneath the budding daisies, Free from earthly care and pain, To the home so sad without her Never to return again.

PROTECT THE FISH.

The fishing season has opened but from all accounts the only class of fishermen who are getting any return for their efforts are the law-breakers—the fellows who resort to the shameful practice of dynamiting the streams and thereby destroying thousands in order to secure a few fish. There is a heavy penalty provided by law for any one found guilty of dynamiting the streams for fish, and there is also a liberal standing reward for any information leading to the conviction of guilty ones and yet it seems almost impossible to break up the iniquitous practice. Several of the streams in this county would afford excellent sport for real fishermen, being naturally adapted to the growth of good fish, were it not for the fact that the fish are constantly being destroyed by dynamite, setting, trapping and other illegal and unsportsmanlike means of capturing. It would be a blessing if one of these lawbreakers could be convicted and punished to the fullest extent of the law. The example might be of benefit to others.
